

DevOps and Software Testing.

10 December 2019 · agile, devops, security, video

Most of my recent work has been with DevOps teams. While in one sense DevOps is another evolution in software development. It also introduces some new skill requirements and responsibilities into the daily routine of a tester.

(<https://dpsvdy74uwwos.cloudfront.net/statics/img/product-pages/devops.png>)

These diagrams tend to confuse people, hence the video...

I've created a short video to highlight some of these changes and the opportunities they bring. It's not an exhaustive view of DevOps but it gives a highlight of what you could be working with.

|

While DevOps isn't a panacea to our software development problems, I have found that empowering teams with the ability to build and use the tools they need, can rapidly improve team morale and productivity.